

Question for written answer E-014490/2015
to the Council
Rule 130
Dimitrios Papadimoulis (GUE/NGL)

Subject: Uniform Deposit Insurance Scheme

Speaking at the ECB Forum on Banking Supervision in Frankfurt, Mario Draghi stressed the importance of completing Banking Union, and in particular of the EU-wide deposit insurance scheme, while noting that the failure to reach an agreement within the Council would undermine Monetary Union.

The Commission, presenting its initiatives in relation to stage one of the Five Presidents' Report, pledged to announce a legislative proposal for an EU-wide system of deposit insurance for European citizens by the end of 2015.

Given the importance of deposit insurance for the monetary policy and financial stability of all eurozone countries, will the Council say:

1. How does it judge the Commission proposal for a common European deposit reinsurance scheme?
2. What stage have discussions reached on the adoption of an EU-wide deposit insurance scheme and what timetable has been set for the introduction of such a scheme?
3. Are any Member States opposed to the adoption of a common deposit insurance scheme? If so, which Member States and what are their concerns?