

Question for written answer E-015860/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Javi López (S&D)

Subject: Social and occupational integration of persons from third countries and stateless persons

Europe is facing an unprecedented humanitarian crisis at its internal and external borders, with a mass influx of refugees from third countries and stateless persons fleeing poverty and seeking to escape the war-torn areas to the east and south of Europe. As the Commission has rightly observed, we are facing a major challenge and the EU Member States and institutions have an enormous responsibility to resolve the emergency situation at our borders and subsequently ensure the social and occupational integration of the newcomers.

Has the Commission drawn up an emergency plan to provide guidance for the Member States with a view to introducing common measures to integrate people who are granted refugee status and are legally resident in Europe into the labour market?