

Question for written answer E-016060/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Cătălin Sorin Ivan (S&D)

Subject: Cultural heritage in the European Union

The cultural heritage of the European Union is rich and diverse, and it is a driving force for the cultural and creative sectors. It is also an important resource for economic growth, employment and social cohesion, offering the potential to revitalise urban and rural areas and promote sustainable tourism.

What action has the Commission taken recently to encourage collaboration between Member States in order to support and promote the safeguarding of the European cultural heritage?