Subject: Suspension the Schengen system

In the light of recent events, a number of Member States have suspended the Schengen system.

Will the Commission be adopting a system of review of the Member States' decision to suspend the Schengen rules for their territories?

Will it be monitoring whether there is reasonable justification for suspending the Schengen rules in these cases, focusing in particular on the length and conditions of these suspensions and the reasons for them?

Will it allow indefinite suspension of the Schengen rules for any Member State?
