

Question for written answer E-015199/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
David Casa (PPE)

Subject: Markets for taxis and car hire services

In September 2015, the Commission was supposed to launch a study analysing the markets for taxis and car hire services, with a focus on the controversial Uber services. What progress has been made with regard to this study? When exactly does the Commission intend to publish its findings and, in addition to the study, is it already working on any specific legislative proposals which would cover new concepts such as the sharing economy?