

Question for written answer E-015320/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Tomáš Zdechovský (PPE)

Subject: Recognition of roadworthiness tests for motor vehicles at EU level

I regard it as ridiculous that vehicles whose roadworthiness and emission levels were tested six months previously are subject to a new roadworthiness test when imported into another Member State. Is the Commission considering the mutual recognition of roadworthiness tests on motor vehicles from different Member States?