

Question for written answer E-016095/2015
to the Commission
Rule 130
Gabriel Mato (PPE)

Subject: Results of the Interreg programme in the Canary Islands

With Interreg celebrating its 25th birthday, now is a good time to evaluate the results of this programme aimed at territorial cooperation, particularly in regions like the Canary Islands, where this type of policy plays a key role in securing their future and their relations with neighbouring countries.

1. What is the Commission's assessment of the results of the Interreg programme for the Canary Islands?
2. On what new lines of action is it working?
3. What immediate targets are being set in relation to territorial cooperation and how are they being approached for the outermost regions, such as the Canary Islands?